Notes for Bridget Cosgrove:

Mike,

You are so bad :) How could you suggest Kate had a child out of wedlock? You certainly stirred the pot. I have a newspaper obit.

of "Mrs. Charles McNulty" Dated Sept. 30, 1940 It states she was a resident of So. St. Paul, former Millville resident but was visiting with her daughter Mrs. James Hawkins of Lake City when she died of pneumonia. Her surviving children are listed as: Mrs. P.F. Nolan, Miss Rose McNulty of St

Paul, Mrs. James Quinn of Aurora, ILL., John of So. St. Paul, James of Millville, Leo of Fargo, N.D., and Mrs. James McBride of St. Paul. Her brother, Patrick Cosgorve of Millville is listed as well.

So, I have to disagree with you (respectfully of course), I think Leo came along later in Charles life, Bridget would have only been 40ish if my math is correct. Not so old for women, with birth control being what it was, not to mention they were Irish Catholic :)

I have both of the other Bridget McNulty death certs. I'm pretty certain they are both for Cormick's wife. I think you're right when you speculate that there are 2 because she died at home.

I'm still waiting on the Dakota HS to contact me about my request. Nothing so far. Maybe I'll drop them another quick email.

Now I'm going to try to match up the above mentioned ladies with their first names. I always hated it when women used their husbands name and never added their own. :)

Take Care,

Nancy

I sent for Patricius's death cert. I tried to get James but before 1906 it wasn't required to record births or deaths in CO so I'm not having much luck. One man suggested I try the Probate court records in Leadville to see if they have an exact date of his death. Maybe a will or some other document.

I'll keep trying of course ;0) Now that I found him (I think) I'm gonna track that info down! I've spent the better part of the last year and a half trying to find him, he's a "cheeky wee Irishman" for sure.

She died on 15 Oct 2004 in Lewistown, Fergus County, Montana.

Notes for Raymond Francis McNulty:

Rupert Koelzer was born in Orfino, Idaho in 1896. He had a third grade education. Edna Elizabeth Spicker was born in Kamia, Idaho in 1894. Edna had a 3-year teacher college education and taught school.

Rupert and Ray McNulty homesteaded together on the river in 1916. They built identical cabins on opposite sides of the river. They had building supplies brought down the river by flat boat. Rupert was on the north side of the river about 3 miles below the present location of the Robinson Bridge. The map still shows a gulch called Koelzer Coulee.

After Rupert had built a cabin he sent for Edna. She came to Lewistown in February of 1917. Of course things being what they were in those days, people didn't live together without being married so they promptly went to the courthouse and got the certificate and got married in St. Leo's Church. Mrs. McNulty told Vernon that she and Edna were the only white girls in the area and there were a few Indian girls. There would be 10 or 15 cowboys in the area and they had dances in the cabins.

Rupert did not have a team of horses so when Koelzers wanted to go to Roy they would pole his boat across the river and borrow McNulty's team and wagon.

RAY AND ROSALIE MCNULTY

T 21N R 23 North of the River - T 21N R 24 Sec. 6 South of the River

Ray McNulty and Rosalie Raymond were married on March 24, 1944. Rosalie was born in the Two Calf area, during that infamous winter of 1919. Her parents were Mr. and Mrs. Rube Raymond. Her dad had been a railroad conductor in Nebraska. Her mother was a nurse and, without any help, brought Rosalie into the world.

The couple, and Rosalie's three children, Beverly, Billie and David, by a former marriage, settled on Ray's ranch which he had homesteaded in 1916 along Armells Creek and the Missouri River with his parents.

Ray and Rosalie loved it along the river, in spite of the many times of being flooded out. In fact, in 1947, they spent their wedding anniversary sitting on a wagon tongue on high ground, due to a 'wall of water' that had rushed downstream late the night of March 20, 1947. They did not know that the flood was coming and on that fateful night they ran for their lives, carrying five-year-old David in their arms (the girls were staying in town), the rampaging river rose higher than ever before and when the water receded their house had been carried downstream and deposited a mile away. A week later they were staying in it again after many long and hard hours of cleaning it up.

The flood was the result of an ice jam that had moved all the way down the river. The water had receded the evening of the flood, because the ice was holding the water back. When the ice broke loose, the noise was deafening.

Six weeks later, after many days of sunshine, huge cakes of ice were still laying all along the river and in alfalfa fields for 50 miles. Twenty five ranchers suffered great losses. John Umstead lost 90 head of his cattle in this flood.

Rosalie and the children moved to Hilger where she bought a house and they attended school. Later they purchased a mobile home which was moved to the river, on the north side of Armells, where they lived until Rosalie moved it into Roy after Ray's death.

Ray's homestead was condemned by the government for the Ft. Peck project in the 30's when they bought up all the river bottoms for the project. He then leased it, and his dad's homestead, and continued to operate the ranch. The leases up and down the river all read differently. Closer to the dam the leases read that the people could stay until flooded out; up-river leases were called "life time leases" which meant they had the right on the place for life.

In 1959 the remote area was opened up with the new north-south highway, 191, which was within a half mile of their buildings. Ray thought it was pretty nice because he'd no longer have to shovel snow and fight mud every foot of the 35 miles to Roy-a trip that, at one time, was made only once a year.

Telephones and electricity soon followed, but the highway brought problems they hadn't thought of; gates left open, garden trampled, calves and gas stolen and vandalism, especially after the opening of the James Kipp State Park. Ray once stated that when he came to the river breaks and badlands in 1916 the few people there "were about the most hospitable in the world. The latchstring was always out. If no one was home you just went in and spent the night. The only rule was "fill the wood box in the morning." Times were changing.

But there were compensations, for the most part the campers, fishermen and hunters lured into the country were lovely people and the couple made many new friends.

When the James Kipp Park came into being the government tried to force Ray and Rosalie off. People protested and the result was that Ray could stay for the remainder of his life, but Rosalie would have to leave within a year after his death.

Ray was the first caretaker at the park; Rosalie took over when age forced his retirement and was caretaker for 12 years.

A letter to Ray, dated April 23, 1973, from the Montana Department of Fish and Game, was the beginning of the end for Ray, according to his wife. It stated that as of May 15, 1973 all range livestock had to be removed and by May 31, 1973 all horses and dairy cattle had to be removed.

Ray took the 'eviction' notice to court and won, after a long battle. He was heartsick and weary after the long struggle and in March of 1975 at the age of 82, he passed away. Ray McNulty, veteran of WWI (army and navy) and of several decades of living at and loving his river breaks home, was finally gone off the river.

Rosalie, though not wanting to, gave up her beloved home and soon moved into Roy with her brother, Wally Raymond, who had made his home with the McNulty's for several years. Rosalie, always busy, raises large gardens, still milks a few cows and has a few head of cattle that she runs on a permit she holds in the Charles Russell Range and Indian Butte Grazing District.

Beverly McNulty married Floyd Emery and they live on the old Harry Moyer place south of Roy. They raised a family of five children: Bruce, Roger, Anita (Peters), Pattie (Rife) and Kim (Miller).

Billie is married to John O'Reilly and they also live in Roy. Billie raised three children from her first marriage: Karen Rindal Huck, Lee and Curt Rindal. Curt died in 1983 on his 18th birthday in an auto accident.

David and his wife, Carol, live in Billings where he is in the telephone- communications business. He has four children: Lori, Misty, David and an adopted stepchild, Susan.

Comments: I am the grand daughter of Rosalie Raymond-McNulty Nordahl. My father is her son David. He and my mother were married in the early 60's and I am not sure when they divorced. I was online trying to find some information on my family and was delighted to find this website. I have not heard from or seen my father since I was a small girl (my mother had told me he died, I suppose to keep me from looking for him). I was surprised to see his name and that he was remarried and had children (I was raised an only child). If anyone has any information please feel free to email me.

AL NORDAHL

Rosalie McNulty was remarried in 1977 to Al Nordahl. Al came to the area in the 1950's with Roth Construction who was to build the new highway. Al, who was from Draper, South Dakota, worked on construction all of his life, until retirement.

When Roth first came he took Al and showed him where he wanted a road dozed, from the top of the river breaks to the bottom, in order to bring in the workers trailer homes. As Al stood at the top of the hill his first impression was "this is no man's land if ever I saw it." Al built the road and from then on the river breaks became his home too, as when ever he wasn't working on construction he worked for the McNultys. He became part of the family.

Al passed away in December of 1985.
